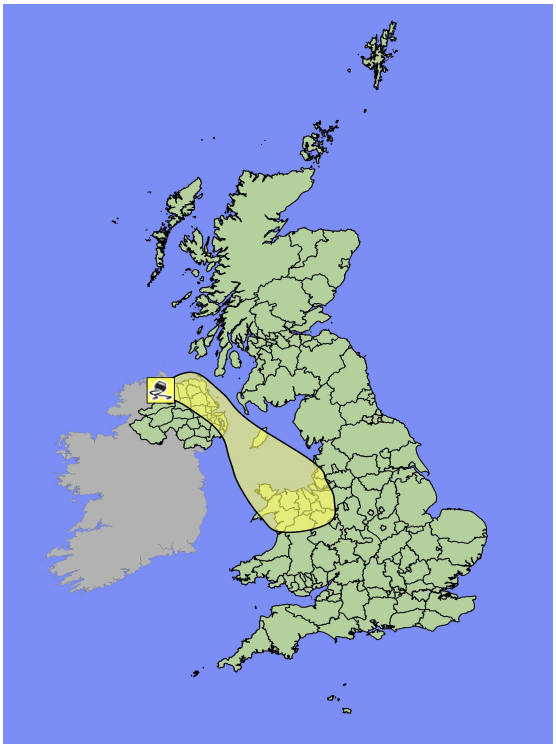
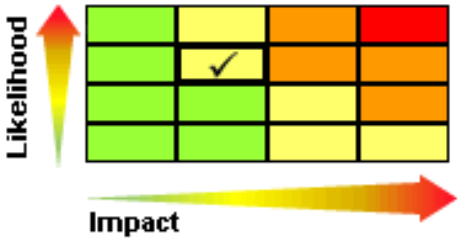
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Temperatures are expected to fall below freezing widely overnight. As a result, ice is likely to form where surfaces are left wet by showers, some of which will be wintry. Outside of the yellow area there is also a risk of icy patches even on roads that have been treated with salt, where water run-off/seepage resulting from recent wet weather may wash off any earlier salt treatment.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 01:00 on Sun, 02nd Dec 2012 until 11:00 on Sun, 02nd Dec 2012

A widespread frost on Sunday morning will lead to icy stretches on untreated surfaces.

The public should be aware of possible disruption to travel.
